A serious riot occurred last Sanday evening near St. John, New Branswick, between gangs of Irish and German railway laborers. The ontset was provoked by an Irishman, who insulted a German, for which he was knocked down. In less than half an hour, nywards of two hinghred persons were engaged in deadly conflict, in the course of which one man was fatally cits and beaten. The Germans were finally driven from the ground. Slavery and Marriage.

A committee of five clergymen of the Charleston (S. C.) Baptist Association, sabmitted a labored report upon the marriage of slaves, at the last meeting of the Association. Their general canclusion is that the condition of the slaves being peculiar, they cannot be held strictly to the Christian rule in respect to marriage, if taken from one plantation to another, and they may forake one wife and take a new once; in fact, they may take a new once at each removal. This has long been the Southern practice, but we believe it has never before received the open sanction of any branch of the Christian Church. These clergymen argue that the slave must, and may rightfully, obey the wishes of his owner in this matter—even to the extent of promiscuous intercouse—although they hesitate to say that distinctly—where that would be for the master's interest, by increasing the number of human cattle. Certainly, this instatuton is very," peculiar," especially when the attempt is made to adapt Christianity to it.—ILI. Jour.

when the attempt is made to adapt Christianity to it.—III. Jour.

A CLOFO IN THE FUTURE.—The English reformers who strips to put down mendicancy have lately found, to their horror and amuzement, that for dresafful depravity the rapidly increasing Chinese population of London goes infinitely beyond the worst ever ascertained in the worst continued and retained in the worst Continental writches. All the vices of all antiquity, and of all the East seem to have been continued and centared in the "Central Kingdom" until evil passions and an extraordinary ingenuity have almost resolved crime into new elements. Shocked beyond measure at discoveries which they have made, Mr. Yardley, and others come forth and appeal to the population of London not to give almot ouch wretches—of which some hundreds, the very refuse of Shanghai, Caston and Hong Kong, are rapidly introducing into the worst element of London life a deeper depth of corruption.

This is not a marticular agreeable subject to acong, are rapinly introducing into the worst element of London life a deeper depth of corruption.

This is not a particular agreeable subject to touch on, but it is one which is destined beyond all doubt to prove fraught with very serious trouble to the next generation; no power on earth can prevent the Chinese from spreading—political trouble at home and slave hunting abread are providing for this every day—they are already going forth by thousands of their own accord; and as no race in the world is so utterly impassive to moral teaching, it will be seen that they are destined to work mischief. We to those of Cuba who by encouraging the Coolee traffic, introduce an element which may have the most terrible effects on their children. They have aurused the worm—what will they thick when it turns to the Great Dragon—Philosleiphia Bulletin.

says that we annually pay to Europe a tribute of $25,000,000 as interest on borrowed money, and treble that sum as profits on her fabrics and luxuries. Ordinarily this is not felt much, bemains in this country for investment, having the same effect as if the debts were due to our own citizens. But when a crisis of any kind absorbs the surplus capital abroad, then our vancing the price of capital, and, of course, embarrassing all our operations. This was the effect of the late war in Europe, and was among the most prominent causes of the present dullconquest of India and the invasions of China our money market will probably feel the dis-turbing influence again. As the interlinking avoid a mare in the monetary troubles of any country. To a certain extent, we all sail in the same ship. But still, as the hazards of commer-cial dependance on other nations become de-veloped by experience, our people must cherish reduced to the smallest extent consi our profitable relations to Europe.

THE DECLINE IN SUGARS.—The New York and Boston papers bring to us the gratifying intelligence that the sugar market, which had already greatly declined, is still falling, and that there is a prospect of still greater decline. The fall from the highest point to which speculators had held is full three cents a pound, and already the leases of believes. already the losses of holders are very heavy. The N. Y. Independent estimated, a few weeks since, that the stock on hand in that market alone, was 85,000 tons, besides 4,000,060 gal lons of molasses, and that the loss at that tim was fully three and a balf millions of dollars gars throughout America and Europe at $50,000,000. No one will cry over this result cr-

Niagana Rivers Bank—This institution, located at Tonswanda, was thrown out by the brokers in New York. It has held out longer than was anticipated, the failure of Mr. Bates of Troy, its principal owner, having been announced some days since. Its embarrassments are not due to any connection with the suspended banks of this city. Mr. Bates' largest transactions have consisted in the use of Ningara River Bank and other uncurrent money, to the amount of $15,000 to $50,000 daily, in buying short drafts from western drovers, on Boston and New York. This business for the most part has been done at Albany. Mr. Bates was also largely interested in the World's Safe Company—the manufacture of Lillie's airs—in Troy. and it is recessaried the his selection.

CENTRAL BANK.—At a meeting of the stock-adders of this institution, yesterday, the follow-tionan were elected directors:—Warren holders of this Institution, yesterday, the following gentlemen were elected directors: —Warren Norton, Wm. SEA-SICKERS CURBER.—Dr. W. P. Harris, surgeon to the Khersoness steamship, writes to the London Lessoc: "I am much surprised at the opinion which is so prevalent of the utter inearability of sea-sickness. I believe this opinion to crist among the non-medical part of the community from sheer ignorance, and amongst sea-going surgeons from a supineness in applying remedies—a fault to which they are rather too subject. As surgeons to one of the first-class American steamships, which each voyage carries over to Portland at least four hundred emigrants, I think I may venture to state my experience. In the greater number to instances I allow the storment to discharge its contents one or twice, and then, if there is no organic disease, I give five drops of Chleroform in a little water, and, if necessary, repeat the dose in four or six hours. The almost constant effect of this treatment, if conjoined with a few simple precautions, is to cause an immediate scenation, as it were, of warmth in the stomach, accompanied by almost total raise of the nan-sea and sickness, likewise outing the distressing headache and usually caussing a quite well: from which the passenger awakes quite well:

HOME CIRCLE READING. JOKES AND ARGUMENTS .- It is a common ng that the worst pans are the best, and upon he worst arguments. At least, we agree with to a very good joke is a very bad joke, the next best thing to a very good argument is a very bad one. In both cases extremes meet; and as in the streets of Paris, you must beware of as in the streets of Paris, you must beware of the old maxim, sucho or enadde, as some in-corrigible punster hath it—nationsus side. The exquisitely good, and the deplorably bad, stand on nearly the same footing, as regards applause; it is only mediocrity—which is only tolerable, and therefore not to be endured' -that is universally execrated.

Its very lameness—the limping in one leg—which whould be objected to it by a carping, laughter-proof critio—constitutes its greatest beauty. So in argument, the self-san result which a fine piece of logic accomplish regularly, and according to the laws of Barb its misshapen brethren per soltum, as a piece of luck. When Synery Sarrar, zidicaling the op-posers of temale education, says that he has all his lifetime been so ignorant as not to know the savantages of ignorance, every one is tick-led with the reductio ad absurdum; and so with Hooven's inimitable ridicule of those who n make so good a use of reason as when they would decry the use of reason in theologic convincing than the peasant's indicrors logic "How good it was of God to put Sunday u one end of the week! for if he had put it of it!" And again, who does not "cave in " the irresistible though comical reasoning of the tenant of a leaky house, who was asked during a rain storm, why he did not have it newly shingled:—"Because," said he, "it is raining now." "But why not repair it during the plea-
